PNP WEEKLY LOG

JANUARY 12, 2025

1- SUMMARY OF THE WORK

Assalam-o-Alaikum,

This week, I worked on two tasks (Tasks 9 and 10).

For Task 9, I first searched for English and Urdu Pakistani newspapers. Then, I found a website that had links to all those newspapers. I selected five Urdu newspapers and opened the e-paper of each one and did the same for the English newspapers. After all that, I simply determined the impacts according to my perspective. It was easy, and I enjoyed doing it.

For Task 10, I thought about ideas a lot. Then, according to my field, I chose an event based on Artificial Intelligence named TechSphere'25, which I suggested myself. It was a totally fictional event. I made up all the scenarios for an event, including that it would be organized by NED University at XYZ place. I created all the flyers, invitations, and posters on Canva. I put in good effort and tried to make a good report.

2- PROBLEMS OR CONCERNS

This week, my laptop charger short-circuited while I was using my laptop on charging. So, all my work stopped suddenly. It took time to set everything again, but I managed to get the work done before the deadline.

3- HOW MY WORK THIS WEEK RELATES TO MY LEARNING OBJECTIVES

An event report requires good writing skills. While making it, I understood this, so it was a learning lesson for me on how to consider all aspects and gather everything in a meaningful document.

4- THE BOND BETWEEN THE PEOPLE I WORKED WITH

I share a nice bond with everyone. One guy messaged me saying he was severely ill and asked me to send him my work with some changes so he could submit it directly because he couldn't do it himself. However, I didn't because I had put so much effort into completing the tasks and didn't want to let someone submit my work without any struggle or effort.

5- EXPERIENCE OF THIS WEEK

Only three words for this week; Informative, Learning and Exploring
